(Special to The Evining World.)
LEAGUE PARK, ST. LOUIS, July 10. -- A mixed company of Huns, vandals, goths, gamblers, boodlers and Yaps hurried out here thi safternoon to see what John McGraw would do for a pitcher. Having already worked Taylor, Mathewson and McGinnity one while game and the ninth inning of yesterday, the barbzarian host had an idea tant the Cardinals could win now with one hand

Tell the truth, Mac was a little puz-zled himself. He has to keep the s.ars for a hard series in Cincinnati and they are pretty tired, anyway. So the choice lay between "Staten Island Jack" Cron'n and Roscoe Miller. Both of these lads are pitchers of reputation and it is a pity that McGraw has not given them more chances. They should be allowed at least to pitch a game out and if beaten they know how to take their medicine.
